

IRE Lab quality and environment policy

In line with IRE-IRE ELiT's principle that "every human being has the right to health in a healthy environment" and abiding by the company's fundamental values (respect, collaboration, commitment, rigour, openness), it is our mission to protect the population and the environment. Through our personalised support and our recognised industrial experience, we strive to become the reference partner for tailor-made advice and solutions for monitoring and analysing radioactivity.

This strategic goal is underpinned by our quality assurance as evidenced by the ISO 9001 certification of our project activities and the ISO 17025 accreditation of our laboratories. Our persistent desire to ensure full customer satisfaction while minimising our impact on the environment has given rise to our environment management system certified according to the ISO 14001 standard for our laboratory activities.

The strategy developed takes account of the context in which we operate and of the risks and opportunities so as to work out an approach at all levels of the organisation that minimises adverse impact and ensures constantly improving results.

The Management undertakes to pursue action necessary to:

- ✓ Meet the requirements, rules and regulations applicable;
- ✓ Continuously improve the performance of our quality and environment system;
- ✓ Meet the expectations of our customers to be seen as best-in-class in quality and reactivity while ensuring ethical integrity, impartiality and confidentiality;
- ✓ Train our personnel and raise their awareness;
- ✓ Continuously improve the techniques and infrastructure we use;
- ✓ Ensure the growth of IRE Lab business;
- ✓ Protect the environment and honour the principle of preventing pollution, mainly by improving our waste management and our use of energy and resources.

The performance and improvement of our quality and environment system are regularly monitored through general and operational indicators. Targets are reviewed each year as part of our management reviews and are incorporated in company strategy.

The Management commits itself to informing the personnel of the quality and environment policy and make sure that it is understood and that all take an active part in it.
